19	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>➤ Globalization should be dedicated for the sake of a better society. Not a better society for globalization. Because globalization happened because of societies and society did not happened because of globalization.</li> <li>➤ Changes are inevitable; you just have to change accordingly. It is the same way in which Globalisation can be useful as well as can be harmful; it is up to the countries and its people how they will accept it. And so, in response to our task is not to make societies safe for globalization, but to make the global system safe for decent societies individuals must embrace, support and enact sets of values towards making it happen collectively taking part of the increasingly globalised society.</li> <li>➤ The task is to make the global system safe for decent societies since a safe society is far from making it happen for the process of globalisation. It is actually difficult to hold promise of making a society safe since the process itself could strain and prove inequality and inefficiency for a society whereas creating a sustainable approach towards an efficient global system means safe for decent societies. At the same time, we need to create the conditions for sustainable growth.</li> <li>➤ That is why it is vital to empower workers to enforce core workers right in the global market- the right to organize and bargain collectively to improve one's lot, the prohibitions against child labour and forced labour, the elimination of discrimination. Empowering workers strengthens democracy which is vital to sustaining prosperity, to making markets work. Globalisation –in the extreme, corporate dominated, de-regulated form we have witnessed – is not the scapegoat of the current crisis; it is the cause of it.</li> <li>➤ All of it due to the destructive hands of man, that such circumstances arouse. Though, we shouldn't be limited to the dark side of the process, since in the need to work towards a descent society we must call for greater transparency, better accounting and more generous safety nets are satisfying, but not sufficient. Nevertheless attainment of sustainability opts for the best solution.</li> </ul>	4
20	Criticism <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>➤ This theory was proved wrong by what happened in European countries Birth rates had declined, and outbreaks of epidemic diseases were being controlled.</li> <li>➤ Malthus's predictions were proved false because both food production and standards of livingcontinued to rise despite the rapid growth of population. Malthus was also criticized by liberal and Marxist scholars for asserting that poverty was caused bypopulation growth.</li> <li>➤ The critics argued that problems like poverty and starvation were caused by the unequal distributionof</li> </ul>	4

	economic resources rather than by population growth <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>➤ An unjust social system allowed a wealthy and privileged minority to live in luxury while the vast majority of the people were forced to live in poverty.</li> </ul>
21	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>➤ To remove the obstacles which arose from the inherited agrarian structure of the past</li> <li>➤ To eliminate all elements of exploitation &amp; social injustices that existed within the agrarian system</li> <li>➤ In order to ensure equality of status and opportunities to all sections of the population.</li> </ul>
22	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>➤ Changes in the living conditions of tribal communities' after independence. Even after independence life did not become easier for the tribal communities</li> <li>➤ Govt.'s monopoly over the forests continues, exploitation of forests has accelerated.</li> <li>➤ Millions of tribals were displaced and without any appropriate compensation and rehabilitation (for example, Sardar Sarovar dam and Polavaram dam displaced many tribals leading them to great destitution).</li> <li>➤ Tribal groups have been waging struggle against the outsiders. The significant achievements include the statehood of Jharkhand &amp; Chhattisgarh.</li> </ul>	6
23	Role <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>➤ The media plays a constructive role in today's society – from increasing public awareness to collecting views, information, and also the attitude of the people towards certain issues.</li> <li>➤ Media is present all around us. For example, when we watch the Television; listen to the radio; read books, newspapers, magazines, journals; etc.</li> <li>➤ The world is making a steady progress towards a better future every day. But still, people are bound by the social problems and issues directly or indirectly are “affected by the people of the people and for the people.”</li> <li>➤ Media Keeps You Informed Irrespective of Geo-Location</li> <li>➤ It ceases the boundaries of different societies among the individuals and creates ‘Globalization.’ The globalization is a decent case to delineate the friendship of media, since people can witness what is happening in different nations or how they dress up and what their way of life is. Subsequently, they typically mirror what others do.</li> </ul> Negative effects <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>➤ The Numbing Effect- Repeated exposure to violence has a numbing, or desensitizing, effect.</li> </ul>	2+2+2=6

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>➤ Aggression Booster- Exposure to violent media wreaks havoc on our thoughts, feelings, and perhaps most importantly, our behavior.</li> <li>➤ Crime Stats- Media violence seems to set the stage for violent crime.</li> <li>➤ Repeated childhood exposure to violent media results in the likelihood of physical assault, spousal abuse and other serious physical crimes in adulthood.</li> </ul> Measures <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>➤ The media in India is mostly self-regulated. The existing bodies for regulation of media such as the Press Council of India, which is a statutory body, and the News Broadcasting Standards Authority, a self-regulatory organisation, issue standards which are more in the nature of guidelines.</li> <li>➤ The functions of the PCI include among others (i) helping newspapers maintain their independence; (ii) build a code of conduct for journalists and news agencies; (iii) help maintain "high standards of public taste" and foster responsibility among citizens; and (iv) review developments likely to restrict flow of news.</li> <li>➤ The Ministry of Information &amp; Broadcasting is the highest body for formulation and administration of the rules, regulations and laws relating to information, broadcasting, the press and films. The ministry is responsible for international cooperation in the field of mass media, films and broadcasting, and interacts with its foreign counterparts on behalf of Government of India.</li> </ul>	Any Relevant points
24	It is the number of females per thousand males in a given area at a specified time is sex ratio. It is an important indicator of gender balance in the population. Yes, Parents still prefer to have son rather than daughter as it is evident from day-to-day media reports foeticides, infanticides and on abortion cases. It is surprising that such preference has even no relation with poverty because had it been so, the states like Punjab, Haryana, Chandigarh, Delhi and Maharashtra would have the highest child sex ratio Instead, the census of 2001 reveals that these are states with the lowest (i.e. 950 female babies per 1000 male babies) sex ratios..	3+3=6

	Probable Reasons : <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(i) Religions or cultural beliefs-There are certain beliefs that it is son only entitled to perform funeral and obeisance (shraddha) of his parents. In the absence of son, this right goes to the next male heirs but never to their daughters.</li> <li>(ii) Ignorance-Parents assume that daughters have to leave their home after marriage and even their caste is changed on the day when marriage is solemnized. However, sons live always with them and share common food, house, customs and rituals. So, they hope sons will look after them in their old age.</li> <li>(iii) Fear of social enigma and other problems-Some parents fear of social enigma if they are defiled, entrapped in illicit physical relations at their prime and moreover, burden of maintenance if they are any way deserted, divorced by their husbands or widowed due to ill-luck.</li> </ul>
25	(a) Globalization is defined as the phenomenon of "acceleration and intensification of economic interaction among the people, companies, and governments of different nations." Most studies of globalization tend to focus on changes occurring in the economic and political spheres (b) Organizations representing the cultural sphere—the environment, species preservation, rural life, health, food and cuisine, religion, human rights, the family, women's issues, ethnic heritage, the arts and other quality-of-life issues—are pounding on the doors at world economic and political forums and demanding a place at the table. (c) For some globalization may mean new opportunities for others the loss of livelihood. For example, women silk spinners, gum collectors may lose their jobs. •It has resulted in digital divide, i.e., division between those able to access computer and telecom based technologies (like internet) and those who do not have access to this. •It has posed threat to many indigenous craft, literary traditions and knowledge system. •It has widened the gap between the rich and poor. Privileged section has benefited whereas a large section has been excluded from the benefits.	2+2+2=6
