Mother was very tired and did not want to go to the market which was a few blocks away. But she needed some bread, eggs and milk. The children also needed some things for the school. She called Ria and Sara to give them a list of things to buy. She also gave them some money. The children set off. They were feeling very important because it was the first time that they were shopping alone. They rushed quickly and in their hurry the money fell from their pockets. Not knowing this, they reached the market and began buying the things in the list. As they neared the cash counter, they realised that their money was lost. They went here and there searching for the money but could not find it anywhere. Now they were really scared. It was very late and they thought that their mother was going to scold them. The market had closed but they sat on the steps crying. Soon, they saw a policeman coming towards them. Thankfully, their mother was also with him. She rushed and hugged them. They thanked the policeman and went back home happily.
