THE BOY WHO CRIED WOLF

There lived a boy on a hill. He was a shepherd. He always used to take his goats for grazing every morning.

He was very playful and saw some farmers working far away. He thought of playing a prank on them.

He starting crying, "Wolf , Wolf " and each time when the farmers came he used to laugh at their pain.

However, when the wolf really came, none of the farmers came as they thought he was playing with them again .The boy was very sad and decided not to lie again !

THE ANT AND THE GRASSHOPPER

There lived an ant and a grasshopper in the forest. The ant was very hard working while the grasshopper was very joyful, resting and doing no work.

Although both were very close friends, the grasshopper never listened to the ant.

The ant was busy making his home better and storing food for hard times.

One day, the cold wind and rain washed away the grasshopper's house and the food. He was feeling hungry and cold. The grasshopper realised his mistake and told sorry to the ant.

The ant invited him to stay at his house and offered him food.
