One morning when Dominick woke up, his eyeglasses were missing. He was certain he'd put them safely on his bedside table. Then he remembered he might have left them outside last night after gazing at stars. Or maybe by the pond when he took them off for an evening dip. In fact, they could be anywhere.

Suddenly he saw a creature. Were there two heads? Three heads? He couldn't tell. Nor did he care to stay and count. The monster was approaching quickly. Dominick saw it had big, squiggly tentacles coming out of its long, pointy snout. And it was shouting his name. "Dominick," it yelled, "let me catch up to you." "No!" Dominick cried. He ran even faster but slipped on a rock and stumbled face-first into a puddle of mud. The monster was almost upon him. Dominick couldn't bear it any longer. He sat up and covered his face only allowing himself to peek between his fingers. The monster's arm was reaching forward and there was something in its hand. "My eyeglasses," Dominick said. He took them and placed them on carefully and the monster came into focus. Only it wasn't a monster at all. It was his star-nosed friend Sebastian. "I found these on your porch last night and I didn't want anything to happen to them," he said. Dominick gave a sigh of relief.
